Description:

11 Prospect Street is a two-story tall, three-bay wide, two-bay deep, frame private residence constructed circa 1965 in a vernacular style. The dwelling consists of a rectangular main block with a half-enclosed front porch and a one-story frame garage attached to the dwelling's northwest elevation, added in 1970. The side-gabled roof is sheathed with asphalt shingles. An exterior brick chimney is located on the southwest elevation. The exterior of the dwelling is clad in vinyl siding on all elevations and the attached garage. Fenestration on the front elevation consists of paired one-over-one vinyl-sash windows. The north and central bays on the first floor are sheltered by a shed roof porch with square posts. The central entrance is a six-light, two-panel door with one sidelight. The one-story garage has a metal roll-top door with eight inset lights. One-over-one vinyl sash windows and a two-pane vinyl sliding window pierce the northeast elevation. A louvered window sits in the northeast gable end. The rear elevation of the dwelling is not visible from the public right-of-way. The southwest elevation features one-over-one vinyl-sash windows. The dwelling's foundation is poured concrete.

History: 11 Prospect Street first appears in historic aerial photographs in 1969. The one-story frame garage is visible in a historic aerial photograph taken in 1970. The dwelling served as the residence of Ken Logan, the first full-time chief of police in Cranbury Township.

Setting:

11 Prospect Street is sited on a narrow rectangular parcel (Block 23, Lot 33) located on the west side of Prospect Street in Cranbury
