Description:

9 Plainsboro Road is a two-story tall, four-bay wide, two-bay deep, frame private residence constructed circa 1962 in a Raised Ranch form. The dwelling consists of a rectangular main block and a two-story rear ell extending to the southwest, added circa 2001. The side-gabled roof is sheathed with asphalt shingles. An interior stucco chimney pierces the roof on the northeast slope and an exterior brick chimney is located on the southeast elevation of the main block. A front-gabled, windowless dormer is located on the northeast bent of the main block. The exterior of the dwelling is clad in vinyl siding on the second floor with exposed painted brick on the first floor. Fenestration on the front elevation consists of one-over-one, vinyl-sash windows with aluminum storm windows and paneled shutters. A bay window with four vinyl windows above four rectangular panels sits in the east bay. The two west bays on the first floor are occupied by two metal roll-top garage doors. The entrance is a four-panel door with a semicircular light, flanked by sidelights and topped by a rectangular transom. A full-height portico with square posts shelters the entrance, which is accessed by a concrete pad porch with a metal railing. The northwest, southeast, and rear elevations are not visible from the public right of way.

History: 9 Plainsboro Road first appears in historic aerial photographs in 1962. The two-story rear ell is visible in a historic aerial photograph taken in 2002.
