Description:

29 Maplewood Avenue is a one-and-a-half-story tall, three-bay wide, two-bay deep, frame private residence constructed circa 1860 in a vernacular Greek Revival style. The rectangular dwelling has a two-story, two-bay ell to the northwest, a two-story, two-bay side-gabled addition to the southwest and a one-story, one-bay shed roof addition to the northwest. The side-gabled roof is sheathed with asphalt shingles. Two interior stucco chimneys with brick trimmers pierce the roof: one at the southwest gable end of the main block and one on the northwest ell. The exterior of the dwelling is clad in wood clapboard siding. The eaves are of molded wood with a return cornice at the gable ends of the main block. Windows on the front elevation vary from six-over-six to six-over-one double-hung, single and paired, replacement wood-sash. A frieze band of three-light replacement wood hopper windows runs at the attic story above the porch. The entrance, located in the south corner of the building, consists of a one-light, two-panel door, flanked by sidelights and topped by a rectangular, segmented transom. A one-story porch with a hipped roof shelters the first story. Irregular fenestration on the southeast elevation consists of six-over-six, double-hung, replacement wood-sash windows. A six-over-six double-hung, replacement wood-sash window on the main block's southwest elevation is set within a distinctive molded wood surround with a triangular lintel; no other windows feature this surround. Other windows on the southwest elevation vary from six-over-six to six-over-one, double-hung, single and paired, replacement wood-sash. Character-defining features of the dwelling include the frieze band of windows (likely bottom hinged). A one-story shed, constructed circa 1963, is located south of the dwelling.

History: 29 Maplewood Avenue first appears cartographically on the 1861 Walling map of Cranbury Township, labelled as a carpenter's shop, one of four buildings on a trapezoid-shaped lot. The 1872 Beers atlas shows the subject building as the residence of "W. Mount" on the north side of Washington Avenue, later called Maplewood Avenue. The subject building's rear ell is also depicted on the 1872 Beers atlas. The 1876 Everts and Stewart map shows no change in ownership or alterations to the subject building. The 1916 Sanborn map shows both of the subject building's two-story rear additions and a one-story, one-bay porch on the front elevation. The 1933 Sanborn map shows no alterations to the subject building. The one-bay porch was extended across the full length of the front elevation in 2002.

Setting:

The property is lightly wooded. 29 Maplewood Avenue is located in a primarily residential neighborhood surrounded by residential properties dating from the mid-nineteenth to the early twentieth centuries.
